The A2 Milestone for Progress to Degree	The CSU system and SJSU expect all students to complete their A2 requirement within the first year of study. We have committed to make available courses and support to help all students achieve this milestone. Please work with your Stretch Instructor and all recommended support staff to achieve this milestone successfully. I have agreed to participate in this program and may refer you to it if I believe you need the services provided by Spartan Support Network to succeed in this course.

What We Do in Stretch English

Catalog Description of English 1A F and English 1AS.

Stretch I and II, together, fulfill the Written Communication I requirement. Courses in GE Area A2 cultivate an understanding of the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication, with special attention to the nature of writing in the university. Students in these courses develop college-level reading abilities, rhetorical sophistication, and writing styles that give form and coherence to complex ideas and feelings. A grade of C- or better signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English.

The yearlong Stretch extends your course of study: The Stretch English course in which you have enrolled “stretches” the English 1A curriculum from one to two semesters. This allows you more time to develop habits of mind that support college learning, to expand your writing tools and practices, and hone your reading and writing skills. This added time to prepare will ensure that you are ready to transfer your writing experience and knowledge to the writing you will do in your other courses.

The yearlong Stretch invites you into a learning community: This semester you are enrolled in Stretch English I. Next term, provided you successfully complete the fall course, you will enroll in Stretch English II. You will study with the same instructor and writing colleagues from fall. Together your class cohort uses reading and writing to explore your section’s inquiry project over a full year.

What happens if I don’t earn credit in the fall course?

If you earn No Credit in fall, you will enroll in English 1A in the spring to complete your Area A2 requirement in one semester. If you successfully complete the spring English 1A (with a grade of C- or better), you will still complete your A2 requirement within your first year of study at SJSU.

What You Will Learn in Stretch English I and II

This course explores how reading and writing inform the work we do together at the university. The General Education guidelines outline five broad learning outcomes for all courses that satisfy Area A2. This course is designed to ensure that you meet these outcomes.

For more information on the Stretch Curriculum designed to meet these learning outcomes, see the Stretch English Program Syllabus on our homepage on our Canvas page. In that syllabus you will find information about how, in Stretch I and II, you can earn A2 credit. All English Department syllabi, including this one, are available online at <http://www.sjsu.edu/english/ENGLgreensheets/index.html>

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically;
2. demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance;
3. articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals;
4. demonstrate the ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres;
5. demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing.

Through a variety of writing assignments and projects in this yearlong course, you will practice all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. Major assignments and projects require you to produce several texts of varied length and complexity. Several essays will be drafted in class, both to give you experience in timed-writing situations and to give you the opportunity to observe and confer with your instructor and your cohort about your drafting process. Assignments provide the opportunity to explore multiple modes of presenting arguments— orally, visually, in print and on screens.

What We Will Explore Together:

World at a Crossroads—how did we get here and where are we going?

The year 2020 is like no other. We are in the midst of a great social shift – a national anti-racist movement fifty years in the making has taken to the streets with protests and counter-protests; women and gender movements have ramped up their demands for justice amid a growing backlash; the economy is barely moving forward as income inequality continues to grow; asylum seekers are blocked at the border; climate change is wreaking havoc all around the world; a nation-wide election in a divided country looms on the horizon while a pandemic rages across the globe forcing us into lockdowns, face mask battles, and online learning. Here we stand (or sit), Spartans, in need of answers today as we make decisions that will affect future generations. But these answers are only as good as the questions we ask.

Before we even begin to conduct our investigations, we will have to consider the following questions:

Where can we seek answers to our questions? Where do we find facts we can rely on, and how do we know we can rely on them? Where can we discover who agrees with us, and who disagrees? How do we make our own views heard and respected? How can we use prior knowledge and experience to interpret complex texts? What role can our class learning community play in arriving at tentative answers?

This is an inquiry-based course. The New York Times will be our textbook. You will subscribe to this diverse online newspaper using your student email address (so you get the discount), or you can use the SJSU library to access it. We will browse the many sections of this newspaper daily – International affairs, U.S. politics, science, climate change, opinion-editorials – to select articles that interest you. As you read, you will develop inquiry questions to guide you in your investigation about the current national situation. Some of your writing will be on articles you choose, and some will be on articles I assign with accompanying activities on reading actively, gathering data, evaluating and integrating sources, writing concisely and clearly, and using rhetorical strategies to both read and write.

Our goal this semester is two-fold: As we explore the NYT individually and in teams, we will explore our own biases and personal worldviews, and the roles these play in our interpretation of both the news and our American experiences. We will also investigate the way the news media describe and analyze specific stories and topics.

Goal 1: to encounter the opinions of others, both those with whom we agree and those with whom we disagree. Our purpose is to recognize our own assumptions and biases as we construct logically consistent worldviews and engage in public dialogue about current events. By using our reading and writing to help us examine our beliefs and values, we will develop a clear sense of our own life philosophies and a knowledgeable and compassionate awareness of the worldviews of others.

Goal 2: to develop rhetorical skills – awareness of the importance of audience, context, purpose, Kairos, and appeals to logos, ethos, and pathos. These will enable us to express evidence-based opinions clearly, concisely, and persuasively. Developing an evolving core of beliefs and values requires conscious effort and skill. The skills required for this task are outlined in the English 1A General Education Learning Outcomes: 1) active and rhetorical reading; 2) a writing process that gives us the opportunity to engage in analysis and critical thinking—research, prewriting, organizing our thoughts, composing, revising, editing, proofreading, and regular self-assessment; 3) rhetorical strategies that strengthen our reading and enrich our writing; 4) credible, useful research; and 5) effective communication skills (listening, reading, writing, and speaking). In short, we will use the articles in the NYT as models for our own writing.

How to Prepare for Zoom Sessions

You will need a laptop or tablet for this class. Some of your work will be completed asynchronously on Canvas. We will also be meeting regularly on Zoom, and a Zoom schedule will be posted on Canvas. Check Canvas regularly for updates. Read assigned readings before our Zoom sessions. Attend our Zoom sessions ready to discuss and to write—to explore ideas, share research, analyze source materials, critique samples, and workshop drafts. All Zoom sessions will involve activities intended to further your progress on the current essay assignment or project. You will want to save this work to your Canvas account, or to your laptop, or both. See page 7 for Zoom Rules.

(Laptops and tablets are available to be checked out in the MLK library, and computer labs are available to students in the Student Success Center in Clark, first floor, and the Associated Student Lab in the Student Union, 2nd floor; and adapters in IRC 112. See resources online for campus access and resource availability before coming to campus.)

What we will be Reading and Where to find our Texts

Reading is an integral part of writing. Reading for the course is both extensive and intensive. It includes useful samples of writing for a variety of audiences. You will read stories daily and individually in The New York Times and I will post stories on Canvas that we will read together as a class. The class readings will be used as both reading and writing learning tools. These readings will give you practice in reading to learn, reading to reflect, reading to respond, and reading to write. These texts will also serve as writing samples and models for imitation.

Class activities, especially writing and reading workshops depend on your completing your assigned readings before class, so that we can focus on 1) reading analysis, 2) writing, and 3) discussion in teams or with learning partners.

- Class and outside readings from the New York Times, The Atlantic, the New Yorker, and other online newspapers and journals, and videos on YouTube. Copies or links will be posted on Canvas.
- Subscription to the digital version of the New York Times for the full year (4 weeks @ 99 cents, then $1.88 per week). The digital edition will allow you to keep a personal archive of stories you are following for your writing assignments in this course. Use the following link to access the educational subscription page. You will use your @sjsu.edu account to set up a special education rate for the subscription:
<http://www.nytimes.com/subscriptions/edu/lp1474.html?campaignId=48U9F>
- Book on your investigative topic: to be read during break between fall and spring semesters.
- Class readings on rhetoric as pdf files are from Bruce Ballenger, The Curious Writer, 5/E. Pearson, 2017, and Susan Crowley and Debra Hawhee, Ancient Rhetorics for Contemporary Students, Allyn & Bacon. You will be provided in class with the relevant pages to read.
- A college level dictionary and thesaurus—print or online. Bring to Zoom sessions.
- An e-folder on your computer entitled English 1A with subfolders for different assignments (drafts of work in progress, research notes, final essay) and for class notes and reading responses. Files should have assignment name on them as well as your name if you upload them to Canvas.

University Policies, including the Time You Will Spend on This Work

Faculty at SJSU design courses to help you achieve specific learning goals integral to your progress toward a bachelor's degree. In a 3-unit course like this one, faculty expect that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week in a 15-week term = 9 hours minimum per week). This time includes preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and seeking needed support. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3.

The Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs (GUP) maintains university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. You may find all syllabus-related University Policies and resources information listed on GUP's Syllabus Information web page.

What we will be Writing in the Fall and Spring Semesters

Fall 2020: Grades in fall are based on measured progress toward proficiency in the learning objectives outlined above. To earn credit (CR) in English 1AF, you will need to demonstrate measurable progress in (75%) of CLO categories.

Your Role in Assessing Your Own Learning in This Curriculum

Learning to explain what you have learned through the coursework reinforces your learning and helps Stretch faculty understand the effects of our curricular designs. In both fall and spring you will turn in an e-Portfolio of your Stretch writing, along with an essay that reflects on your progress toward achieving the course learning objectives.

Your SJSU Writing Portfolio. In summer, you wrote essays to reflect on college writing before deciding to take Stretch English. In the first two weeks of the course, you will compile the writing you submitted to the Reflection on College Writing modules into a digital portfolio. The contents of your portfolio will be reviewed twice during your Stretch study.

- Midyear Self-Reflection and Portfolio Review. At the end of the fall term, you will add to your writing portfolio 1) samples that document your progress in the first half of the course and 2) a reflection essay comparing these samples. Written in class, the reflection essay compares the two samples to help the Stretch faculty to assess your midyear progress toward the Course Learning Outcomes listed on the next page.
- Final Self-Reflection and Portfolio Review. At the end of Stretch II, you will once again add to your SJSU writing portfolio, this time including materials to document and samples to illustrate your progress on one of the five GELOs for A2. When you submit the portfolio, you will once again write a self-reflection essay to help the Stretch faculty readers as they make this final assessment of your progress to proficiency as a college writer. This portfolio is your culminating exercise in this class.

Reflecting on Your Own Learning: The Stretch Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

When you have completed this coursework, you will have made considerable progress in developing yourself as a reader and writer. At the end of the fall and the spring term, you will assemble this work in a portfolio, and reflect on the work to gauge and define your progress. Presenting this portfolio to me and to one other member of the Stretch Faculty Learning Community, you will demonstrate to us your own ability to:

Read to learn:

- annotate a reading selection to develop a summary and response in your writing (GELO1);
- identify audience and purpose in texts from several genres (GELO 1,3,4);
- explain how genres work to serve audience and context (GELO 1, 3).

Read to write:

- identify rhetorical appeals and devise strategies for an effective appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- develop a text to effectively appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- identify the choices a writer has made to produce a text (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- use readings as models for your own writing strategies (GELO 1, 4);
- concisely, accurately explain and critique information and ideas from your reading (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- use information gleaned from your reading as evidence in your text and cite that information (GELO 1, 4);
- use quotation and summary to create context for your writing (GELO 1, 4, 5).

Write with an increased awareness of the process:

- discuss specific strategies for prewriting and revision that have worked for you (GELO 2);
- repurpose acquired skills and information to tackle new writing problems (GELO 2).

Read and write with an increased awareness of the language you use:

- identify new grammatical forms and imitate them (GELO 1, 2, 3, 4, 5);
- analyze and discuss the structure of sentences and the grammatical choices you make (GELO 2, 3, 5);
- identify editing problems in your own writing (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective strategies for editing your work (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective proofreading strategies (GELO 2, 5);

Reflect on and assess your own writing, process and product, to support continued language and writing development (GELO 2, 3, 4).

What You Need to Know about GE Area 2 Policy and Yearlong Grading in Stretch

In keeping with GE policy, your final course grade for English 1AS will be a letter grade: A to F. You must earn a C- or better to receive graduation credit for GE Area A2. English 1AF is graded CR/NC. To receive credit in the fall semester, you must complete all coursework and demonstrate significant, measurable progress throughout the semester that suggests you are on track to earn a C- or better in the spring term.

Your spring grade in Stretch includes the grades you earned in fall. All the work you do in Stretch I and II, fall and spring combined, complete one general education course requirement: GE Area A2. You will find in your section syllabus an accounting of how coursework will be graded and accounted in the final course grade.

How Do I Earn Credit for GE Area A2?

To satisfy your CORE GE Area A2 and to move on to CORE GE Area A3, you must earn at least a C- in English 1AS. When you earn a C- or better in the course, you can be confident that you have successfully oriented your reading and writing practice in English to support college level research and learning and to share your learning with others.

See University Policy F13-1 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F13-1.pdf> for more details on your right to understand your grades. See your section syllabus, to learn about your instructor's grading practices: feedback practices, relative weights of assignments, and the grade calculations.

How Your Work Will Be Assessed and Graded in This Course

Feedback on your work is intended to help you apply lessons from class and previous writing assignments to your present writing assignment. Together we will assess how effectively you are performing the skills that you are learning.

Your Scoring Guide: For each assignment, we will develop together a scoring guide based on the 5 Cs listed below. The scoring guide will detail the assignment requirements and the GELOs and CLOs to be scored, along with the reading, thinking, and writing processes that will help us achieve them. The scoring guide will also ask you to reflect on your own work, evaluate your progress, and identify the challenges on which you would like to focus for your next essay.

Your Grade: The grade on your work measures your ability to manage the writing assignment requirements defined on the prompt, which may include such tasks as reading actively and rhetorically to learn and to write, performing essential steps in the writing process, identifying and using specific rhetorical strategies, integrating research, developing arguments, explaining and analyzing ideas, and writing concisely and clearly using college level vocabulary and specific kinds of sentence structure.

To earn a B in this class:

- Complete all major essays and homework assignments.
- Fulfill all requirements defined on the prompt and scoring guide for each essay.
- Use critical thinking and the complete reading and writing processes before submitting work.
- Participate actively in class activities.

Participation plays a large part in learning the reading and writing skills we will be developing this year. Participation means being present visually and contributing to the group—no black tiles, tardiness, leaving early, texting, and other non-relevant activities.

To earn an A in this class:

Students who earn A's tend to read more than the required articles.

- Reading provides a wider scope of information and more complex ideas, which shows in deeper critical thinking and more compelling and factual evidence and examples to support a thesis.
- More research also creates a stronger reader-writer ethos that engages readers and teammates in dialogue.
- Additional reading helps build a larger vocabulary and a more sophisticated college-level sentence structure.
- Students who read more tend to contribute more detailed information to Zoom sessions.

To earn a C in this class:

Work that fulfills less than 100% but more than 75% of assignment requirements as defined on the scoring guiding will earn a C, and work that fulfills less than 75% but more than 70% will earn a C-. C- is required to pass this class.

Essays and participation that consistently fall below 70% will result in a non-passing grade of D or F.

Your course grade is based on the grades you earn on the work you produce through both semesters. In the fall you receive Credit/No Credit. In the spring you receive a letter grade based on a 4 point scale:

Excellent		Very Good – Good		Competent		Not Passing		Failing
100-97	A plus	89-87	B plus	79-77	C plus	69-67	D plus	59-0	F
96-93	A	86-83	B	76-73	C	66-63	D
92-90	A minus	82-80	B minus	72-70	C minus	62-60	D minus

If you are experiencing difficulty in meeting course requirements, please see me to discuss strategies for success.

How We Can Get the Most Out of our Collaboration Together

This course welcomes diversity of opinion. SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. You will engage in reading, writing, and class discussion to construct your own arguments on complex issues such as class and social equity, gender and racial equality. Classroom discussion will always be inclusive and respectful of other viewpoints.

This course encourages collaboration. Sharing ideas, asking questions, and providing valuable feedback to your team and classmates are the basic contributors to a successful learning environment. Think of yourself and your classmates as your most valuable resources. If you cannot attend a team meeting or peer review session, notify your team and make arrangements to exchange papers, notes, or essays with a team member.

We practice empathy at all times. Online learning is a new experience for all of us, myself included. If Zoom discussions or Canvas modules or assignments aren't working for you or could be improved, if you have tech issues or time issues, contact me immediately with questions and comments at my email on Canvas or at linda.landau@sjsu.edu.

Workshops are an essential part of the writer's working experience. Your participation in workshops is critical to your success in this class. Bring to our Zoom session the required draft for workshopping or peer review.

Zoom Discussion Rules:

- We actively participate on Zoom, by
  - contributing to the discussion,
  - closing our microphones only when there is interference from background noise,
  - showing our faces at all time, and
  - focusing our attention on the discussion (not on other activities, such as texting, etc).

If any part of this discussion rule is difficult for you, please let me know right away.
- We encourage perspectives different from our own, but we don't necessarily have to agree with an opposing viewpoint. We aim to reach common ground.
- We listen without judgment, and we refrain from evaluating each other's ideas.
- We ask scholarly questions about a statement before disagreeing with it.
- We provide evidence to support our opinions.
- We refrain from evaluating the works we encounter. Instead we explore the messages they communicate and their purpose in creating this particular message in this particular way at this particular time.
- We arrive on time. Arriving late and taking breaks disturbs the session and results in your missing important discussion and activities. These disruptions will lose you points. Same with texting.
- We check our Canvas schedule and announcements and communicate with teammates, especially if we miss a Zoom session.
- We do not record Zoom sessions. Since our zoom sessions are participation-based, written permission to record the session is required from all class members as per University Policy S12-7.

Professor – Student Collaboration

- Office hours are part of the college experience: University professors expect students to visit us during office hours to get acquainted, share ideas, ask questions, discuss assignments, and learn tips for success. Set up a time with me and send me a Zoom link so we can meet: linda.landau@sjsu.edu
- Email is useful to schedule appointments, share your concerns about your progress, and ask questions about an assignment that cannot be answered by rereading the prompt and guidelines, or by consulting with teammates.
- Canvas: Our syllabus and assignments are posted on Canvas and all your major essays are uploaded to the appropriate assignment box on Canvas. I send announcements through Canvas, so open your mail regularly.
- Late Papers and Missed In-class Essays: Late papers are not accepted without a valid excuse (documented illness, religious holiday). Quizzes cannot be made up.
- Formatting your papers: Standard format is double-spaced. Own your work: Place your name, English 1AF-section number, my name, and date in the top left corner of the first page. Place your last name and page number in top right corner of all subsequent pages.
