Course Format

This course will be asynchronous. Consequently, you will work, to some extent, at your own pace as you complete assignments and post them on Canvas. To foster a sense of community, it will also hold live, synchronous sessions using Zoom on a weekly basis (see Schedule below). These live Zoom sessions are not required, but they will provide preparation and support for the major course assignments.

To complete the coursework for English 1A, you will progress through a series of online learning modules on Canvas. Keep in mind that in most cases you will not be able to skip ahead between modules. Each module is a prerequisite to the one that follows it. If you find yourself falling behind the rest of the class (see Schedule below), please contact me as soon as possible.

Faculty Web Page and MYSJSU Messaging

In addition to weekly Zoom sessions, I will also hold weekly office hours on Mondays and Wednesdays from 12 Noon to 1:15 pm. and by appointment. You can also reach me through email (see above.)

Our online interaction, however, will occur on the Canvas learning management system. On this site, you will find the course syllabus, homework/writing assignments, discussion boards, and page-building tools. Lastly, I will communicate with the class-at-large by making announcements on Canvas. While I will use the MySJSU messaging system for critical, time-sensitive information, I will mostly communicate with the class through Canvas.

Course Description

English 1A is an introductory writing course that helps students understand the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication. Through interpretation and analysis of texts, students learn to think clearly and write effectively as they give form and coherence to complex ideas. Students practice these skills by writing for various audiences and rhetorical situations.

To earn graduation credit in this category, you must complete the semester course with a grade of C- or better.

Course-Specific Theme: Reading the World

This section of English 1A will focus on the theme of Reading the World. The essays you write, the readings you are assigned, and the assignments you complete will all ask you to reflect upon and write about your role as a reader. This will include the traditional ways we think of reading — deciphering words, texts, books, essays, webpages, etc. — but it will also invite you to think of reading in the broadest sense possible. Thus, we shall explore how people, objects, pictures, advertisements, videos, tv shows, movies, songs, and countless other things encourage us to read them in different ways. We will, in short, be reading the world in this class. Our concern with this expanded scope of reading will be reflected in the texts assigned for this class. In addition to providing you with a theoretical framework for our inquiries into reading the world as a text, Jonathan Silverman and Dean Rader's The World Is a Text will provide practical guidance for writing contemporary college essays, but with an emphasis on reading popular culture. Likewise, What the Eyes Don't See: A Story of Crisis, Resistance, and Hope in an American City, by Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha, will enable the class to participate in the Campus Reading Program.

GE Learning Outcomes (GELOs)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically;
2. demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance;
3. articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals;
4. demonstrate an ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres;
5. demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Reflecting on Your Own Learning: English 1A Learning Outcomes (CLOs)

By completing this coursework, you will have made considerable progress in developing yourself as a reader and writer. At the end of the fall term, you will assemble and reflect on your work to gauge and define your progress. Your reflection essay will present your portfolio to your instructor and one other English 1A faculty member; you will demonstrate to us your own ability to:

Read to learn:

- annotate a reading selection to develop a summary and response in your writing (GELO1);
- identify audience and purpose in texts from several genres (GELO 1,3,4);
- explain how genres work to serve audience and context (GELO 1, 3).

Read to write:

- identify rhetorical appeals and devise strategies for an effective appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- develop a text to effectively appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- identify the choices a writer has made to produce a text (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- use readings as models for your own writing strategies (GELO 1, 4);
- concisely, accurately explain and critique information and ideas from your reading (GELO 1, 3, 4);

- use information gleaned from your reading as evidence in your text and cite that information (GELO 1, 4);
- use quotation and summary to create context for your writing (GELO 1, 4, 5).

Write with an increased awareness of the process:

- discuss specific strategies for prewriting and revision that have worked for you (GELO 2);
- repurpose acquired skills and information to tackle new writing problems (GELO 2).

Read and write with an increased awareness of the language you use:

- identify new sentence forms and imitate them (GELO 1, 2, 3, 4, 5);
- analyze and discuss the structure of sentences and the grammatical choices you make (GELO 2, 3, 5);
- identify editing issues in your own writing (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective strategies for editing your work (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective proofreading strategies (GELO 2, 5);
- reflect on and assess your own writing, process and product, to support continued language and writing development (GELO 2, 3, 4).

3. Peer Review: We will be conducting peer review/workshop sessions. These activities consist of live, synchronous Zoom sessions and follow-up work completed individually using Canvas learning modules.

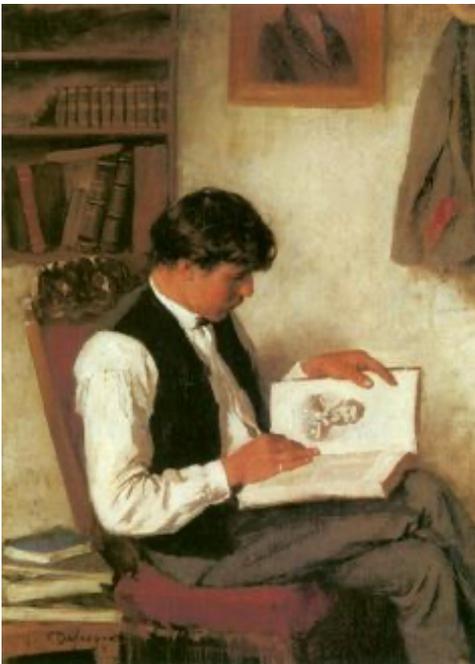

IMPORTANT! Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

Technology Requirements

Students are required to have an electronic device (laptop, desktop or tablet) with a camera and built-in microphone. SJSU has a free equipment loan program available for students.

Students are responsible for ensuring that they have access to reliable Wi-Fi during tests. If students are unable to have reliable Wi-Fi, they must inform the instructor, as soon as possible or at the latest one week before the test date to determine an alternative. See Learn Anywhere website for current Wi-Fi options on campus.

Recording Zoom Classes

After each weekly Zoom meeting, I will post a link to a recording of the session on Canvas in as timely a fashion as possible (within 48 hours). You may stream Zoom recordings from this courses for studying purposes, but please do not download them or share them with persons outside of the class. I retain the copyright to these recordings.

These sessions will be recorded for instructional or educational purposes. You are not required to turn your camera on during these sessions, but you are welcome to do so. The recordings will only be shared with students enrolled in the class through Canvas. The recordings will be deleted at the end of the semester. If, however, you would prefer to remain anonymous during these recordings, then please speak with the me about possible accommodations.

Students are prohibited from recording class activities (including class lectures, office hours, advising sessions, etc.), distributing class recordings, or posting class recordings. Materials created by the instructor for the course (syllabi, lectures and lecture notes, presentations, etc.) are copyrighted by the instructor. This university policy (S12-7) is in place to protect the privacy of students in the course, as well as to maintain academic integrity through reducing the instances of cheating. Students who record, distribute, or post these materials will be referred to the Student Conduct and Ethical Development office. Unauthorized recording may violate university and state law. It is the responsibility of students that require special accommodations or assistive technology due to a disability to notify the instructor.

Zoom Classroom Etiquette

- Mute Your Microphone: To help keep background noise to a minimum, make sure you mute your microphone when you are not speaking.
- Be Mindful of Background Noise and Distractions: Find a quiet place to “attend” class, to the greatest extent possible.
 - Avoid video setups where people may be walking behind you, people talking/making noise, etc.
 - Avoid activities that could create additional noise, such as shuffling papers, listening to music in the background, etc.
- Position Your Camera Properly: Be sure your webcam is in a stable position and focused at eye level.
- Limit Your Distractions/Avoid Multitasking: You can make it easier to focus on the meeting by turning off notifications, closing or minimizing running apps, and putting your smartphone away (unless you are using it to access Zoom).
- Use Appropriate Virtual Backgrounds: If using a virtual background, it should be appropriate and professional and should NOT suggest or include content that is objectively offensive or demeaning.
